MOTORISTS PARADE BEFORE MOVING PICTURE BOX TODAY

Colonel Twitchell Delighted with Fine Reel Obtained for San Diego Fair. 100 Cars in Line.

ALBUQUERQUE SPIRIT THERE WITH THE GOODS

Twelve Cars Made Journey to Santa Fe, Many Being Deferred by Reports of Bad Roads.

Piloted by Fire Chief Klein's red runabout and led by the big red fire truck, 100 automobiles paraded through the downtown section of the city this morning. The procession was preliminary to the start of a motorcade to the annual state meeting of the New Mexico Good Roads association in Santa Fe, and it afforded the board of managers of the San Diego exposition an opportunity to take a picture that will give valuable advertising to Albuquerque at the big show next year.

The moving picture machine was stationed at Central and Second, and every car was caught as it rolled by in line. That picture will be one of the prominent ones shown at the New Mexico building at the San Diego fair, and the motorists and their friends who visit the exposition, next year will see the parade as they looked when they rolled over Albuquerque's busiest corner.

The parade assembled on Fourth street, the line forming at the Commercial club, with the right wing on Gold avenue. Grand Marshal Edward L. Grose, secretary of the New Mexico Good Roads association, gave the word to start shortly after 8 o'clock and the long line of cars got under way without a hitch. Only about five cars from out of town were in the procession, and the 100 cars in line represented at least two-thirds of all the cars in Albuquerque. There would have been more out of town delegates to the convention on hand, if it hadn't been for the heavy rains recently, which have made the roads soft for general motor travel.

The route of the procession was told to Second to Copper, around the park to Central to First. On First street the paraders disbanded, the cars with Santa Fe as their destination going on north.

Twelve cars of Albuquerque good roads enthusiasts went to Santa Fe, the delegation including E. L. Grose, A. B. Stroup, John Heaven and other prominent workers in the cause of better highways. A big car marked "Official" in two-foot letters, carrying Col. Ralph E. Twitchell, chairman of the New Mexico board of governors for the fair and president of the Good Roads association; A. E. Kohler, Jr., director of publicity for the board of governors and the motoring picture operator, was part of the motorcade.

Pictures of the 'cade were taken en route, and from point to point bulletins of the party's progress were sent in to Santa Fe.

"It was a splendid picture," said Colonel Twitchell enthusiastically. "Just after the movie man had finished turning the crank. 'It will show up fine.'"

The board of managers is under great obligations to the Commercial club, the motorists and the citizens of Albuquerque generally for the way in which they have made such a splendid picture possible," added Colonel Twitchell, "and the board appreciates it."

WOMAN'S CLUB TO MAKE PLANS FOR BABY SHOW

Meeting of Board of Managers Called for Monday Night to Provide Regulations for Better Babies Contest.

A special meeting of the Woman's club will be held next Monday night, August 3, at which time the board of managers will submit plans, rules and regulations for the "Better Babies" contest which will be one of the star features of this year's state fair, and of which the Woman's club, under the superintendency of Mrs. John W. Wilson, will have charge. This meeting was to have been held Tuesday night of this week, but it was necessary to postpone it because of conflicting engagements. Many handsome prizes and trophies have been offered for the "better babies" contest and with the cash prizes offered to winning infants will find themselves very comfortably fixed in a financial way. All members of the club are requested to be present Monday night.

The Unhappy Romance of Lady Marjorie Manners; Born in a Tent at Las Vegas, N. M.

(New York Times.)

Not quite two years ago Lady Marjorie Manners, whom Queen Alexandra called "the prettiest girl in the kingdom," was married to the sixth Marquis of Anglesey, a young man of modest habits, engaging personality and with a mighty estate, inherited in 1905, which brings him an income of close to one million dollars a year. England, it seems, rejoiced at the match, which appeared to be everything that a match of the sort should be.

Today the marquise and marchioness are irreparably estranged. The separation is a mystery. Vague reasons have been advanced, which, however, are such paltry guesswork as not to be worth mentioning. There is not a whisper of scandal. About the first of the year the marquise fell ill, and in February went to Aix-les-Bains for the cure, taking the marchioness with her. Later he sent her back to England, saying that he needed a complete rest and would go to Naples. Since then husband and wife have remained severely apart. They have a baby daughter, Lady Alexandra, born in June.

His Title Unexpected.

Charles Paget did not expect to inherit the title and estates of the fifth Marquis of Anglesey. He went to Eton and then to Sandhurst, and later received a commission in the Royal Horse guards. His parents hoped that he would be a credit to the service, and some day marry an heiress who would grace with her fortune a name borne by Henry VIII's secretary of state and by successive generations of warriors and statesmen. The fifth marquise was only Charles' cousin, and it was reasonable to suppose that there would be a son to inherit the dignities of Anglesey. But it seems that the fifth marquise was everything that a marquise should not be. When it was discovered that the thirty thousand or forty thousand acres that went with the title were rich with coal and worth, in round numbers, 50 million dollars, the fifth marquise had no very clear idea of the proper uses for an income of a million a year. This fact he proceeded to demonstrate. There were actresses and such—there always are—and when he died suddenly at Monte Carlo in 1905 his body was shipped back to England in "a plain deal box," as the writer fellows say, and there were few to honor his memory.

So, very suddenly, plain Charles Paget found that he was, in truth, Sir Charles Henry Alexander Paget, baronet, Baron Paget and Beau Desert, Earl of Uxbridge, sixth Marquis of Anglesey, lord of numerous lordships and towers and country seats (including the one in Staffordshire which had rested since 1546 on a mighty bed of coal), the catch of the

ALBUQUERQUE HAS BIG LEAD FOR HUGE MOOSE SANITARIUM

Judge Mann Wires Commercial Club this City Choice of Committee at Milwaukee Meeting.

PICKED FROM SEVEN SOUTHWESTERN CITIES

No Definite Decision, However and Final Settlement May be Delayed for Months, Says Telegram.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 30.—Albuquerque, Silver City, Colorado Springs, and Phoenix are the four best locations for a national Moose tuberculosis sanitarium, according to the report of the tuberculosis investigating committee presented at its forenoon session of the Loyal Order of Moose convention.

Albuquerque's prospects of securing the $2,000,000 sanitarium to be erected by the Loyal Order of Moose have scored far beyond those of her six rivals. Judge Edward A. Mann, sent to Milwaukee to represent the Commercial club at the Moose convention this week, informed President "Cushman" of the club by telegram today that while there will be no definite decision on the site question now, the committee on sanitarium has reported in favor of Albuquerque among seven locations considered.

Judge Mann's telegram was filed last night, and reads as follows: "Committee on sanitarium reported today, favoring Albuquerque among seven locations for sanitarium, but there will be no definite decision now. It may be months before decision will be made. Talked to all members of committee and all seemed impressed but undecided." "EDWARD A. MANN."

city. Not that there was ever anything essentially blameworthy in their artistic antics, you understand. For example, Lady Diana, demure and prim, once won a foot race in the presence of the King of Spain by taking off her shoes and running in her stocking feet. Things like that. He that as it may, it is safe to assume that the Duchess of Portland, for instance, or the Countess of Dudley and others who had fair daughters for sale to the eligible marquise, must have felt, to put it mildly, chagrined upon hearing of the match.

Now, however, the marquise never comes to England unless he knows that his wife is firmly fixed in London, and then he goes to Scotland or Wales—the saddest and most inexplicable matrimonial difficulty that has interested England for many a day. It is said that the separation will shortly be made legal.

CHINESE REFORM IS ENCOURAGED BY SHOOTING

Citizens who Refuse to Fall in with New Government's Ideas of Civic and State Duty Executed or Exiled.

Peking, July 30.—Yuan Shi-kai's government, lenient for a while, has become so severe that the summary executions of sentences to death or exile for political offenses are again numerous. It is not only those who violate the law but also those who but justly support it and who will not work for reforms, on whom the hand of the law is set.

Yuan Shi-kai has found that drastic regulations are necessary for improving the provincial administrations and purging the country of rebels, who are still striving to turn the army against the president. A recent presidential mandate prescribes execution for officials who receive bribes for executing the law. Life imprisonment is prescribed for those who accept bribes for neglecting to put the law in force. It appears from the mandate that "punishment by death may take the form of shooting" instead of the old time decapitation, and "penal servitude may take the form of banishment to remote and unhealthy provinces."

Besides rebels and corrupt officials, persistent gamblers and secret service men of vicious practices are also to be put to death, if the presidential orders can be enforced. Such lists as the following are appearing daily, indicating those whose life may be the forfeit of their crime.

Tong-chong, acting magistrate of Hsiao Kan Hsien, failed to perform his duty and practiced "sneezes," giving great trouble to the people.

Yu Chong-yu, acting magistrate of Ching Shien Hsien, allowed his relatives and servants to receive bribes and to frequent evil houses.

Tung Lai-yu, magistrate of Chia Yu Hsien, misappropriated government funds and has the habit of smoking opium and gambling.

Feng Jui-sung, active magistrate of Chung Yang Hsien, refused to hand over his office when instructed to attend the examination of magistrates.

One regrettable phase of the drastic program which the government has undertaken is the fact that many innocent persons have to go to the execution grounds. It has long been the practice of trade rivals or any person who holds a grievance another to bring the authorities down upon that person and perhaps bring about his execution. One of the most familiar methods has been for one to send through the mail letters which would seem to connect his business enemy with rebel operations. The government authorities, carefully watching the mails, detect these letters and believing them genuine, run down the person to whom they are addressed, and take summary action. Perhaps hundreds of guiltless persons have already been executed as a result of such fraud. It would seem that the administration could easily detect such frauds and let the innocent live. The authorities are still naive and life is held very cheap because it is so wretched and miserable.

A serious evil continues to exist in the secret service branch of the government. The detectives have long made it a practice to extort "squeeze" by threats of denunciation and to obtain rewards by accusing innocent men of complicity with Sun Yat-sen and his party.

An account comes from Chungtu in Szechwan province of an opium smoker being executed publicly as a warning to others who persist in defying the prohibition against use of this drug. It is not clear from the report, but it seems to be the case, that the execution was performed at one of the burnings of confiscated opium, which take place from time to time and are made occasions of public rejoicing.

The principal feature of a new book holder for the use of persons lying in bed is a pane of glass on which an open book can be laid without needing clamps to retain it.

It is computed that more bartenders are required in this country than workers on clothing and shoes.

LOUISIANA WILL RECEIVE RARE DOCUMENT

Custody of Declaration of Secession to be Given Over to the Southern State by Government.

Washington, July 29.—When the pending Lill pass congress, providing for the return of the ordinance of secession of the state of Louisiana to its native archives, the files of the war department will lose one of their most curious possessions.

No one remembers exactly how the old zinc tube containing the record of the convention which voted to leave the union, reached the department. The case bears the simple legend pointed on its cover:

STATE OF LOUISIANA
Ordinance of Secession
January 26, 1862.

This is the only one of the ten other similar documents that the government possesses. Different stories exist as to the means by which the relic reached the capital. It is said that General Butler, when he took New Orleans, seized all the official papers he could find and sent them to Washington. It is possible the old zinc tube containing its message came north with other trophies of war.

As far as the record shows the ordinance first came to light in the drawer of Lieutenant-Colonel Corbin's desk in the adjutant-general's department. It was delivered to Major General Davis, now retired, in 1875, and from him it went to the secretary of war who ordered it placed on the shelf.

The parchment is yellow with age but in excellent condition and perfectly legible though some of the signatures are a bit faded. The text is divided into two parts, in English on the left, and French on the right. Antiquarians and students of history have frequently sought permission to copy the quaint old document, which reads as follows:

"An ordinance to dissolve the union between the state of Louisiana and other states united with her in the compact entitled 'The Constitution of the United States of America.'"

"We, the people of the state of Louisiana in convention assembled, do declare and ordain, and it is hereby declared and ordained, that the ordinance passed by us in convention on the 23rd day of November, in the year 1811, whereby the constitution of the United States of America and the amendments of said constitution were adopted, and all laws and ordinances by which the state of Louisiana became a member of the federal union, be, and the same are hereby, repealed and abrogated; and that the union now subsisting between Louisiana under the name of 'The United States of America' is hereby dissolved.

"We do further declare and ordain, that the state of Louisiana hereby resumes all rights and powers heretofore delegated to the government of the United States of America; that her citizens are absolved from all allegiance to said government, and that she is in full possession and exercise of all those rights of sovereignty which appertain to a free and independent state.

"We do further declare and ordain, that all rights acquired and vested under the constitution of the United States, or any act of congress or treaty, or under any law of the state, and not incompatible with this ordinance shall remain in force and have the same effect as if this ordinance had not been passed."
